

BLEED

Dutch modern thrash metal act BLEED is based in Amsterdam, the Netherlands and consists of ex-members of underground favourites like Necrology, Standard, Cardinal and Mindfields. Some of it's members have been playing together in different formats for almost 20 years.

Originally conceived by Michiel (Guitar) and Thomas (Vocals) as an outlet for their combined love of oldschool Metalcore, BLEED had been a long time coming and finally took full form in 2006 with the addition of Remmert (drums), Jordy (Guitar) and David (Bass).

After the successful release of its self-titled promo in 2009 and numerous shows in the Netherlands and even the Antilles, the band started work on its first proper full length. Now a full band, each of the five members contributed to what BLEED sounds like today. On the album, entitled "Seven Billion Demons", BLEED has taken a natural but decisive step towards a more thrash metal oriented sound whilst still keeping the high energy and thought out lyrical concepts from their hardcore influences.

Sick of the same old nine string bearing simpletons who whine about first world problems, BLEED looks to bring metal to its core. Dynamic, loud and exciting songs that have something to say. Soundtracks to bang your head to. With the album under their belt, the band is ready to tour relentlessly and aim to bring their music to as many people as will want to listen to it.
